Terrace in Court Monday

The District of Terrace will be in Vancouver Supreme Court Monday answering civil charges laid by Mickey Johnson, of Mickey Johnson Recreation Ltd.

The charges arose out of an ongoing dispute between the district and Johnson's company over his right to operate his ski shop contrary to zoning by-laws.

Public Dock For Massett

Plans for a new public dock at Massett have been approved by the Department of Public Works, it was announced today by Skeena M.P. and Minister of State Iona Campagnolo.

"The old government dock in Massett was destroyed by fire in January," explained Campagnolo, "and a decision on a replacement facility had been deferred to see if it would be possible to combine it with a dock for the B.C. Ferry Corporation service to the Queen Charlottes."

"The B.C. Ferry Corporation has yet to decide on the location of its Queen Charlotte Island terminal, however, and it was felt that steps to replace the old dock could not be delayed any further."

The proposed new structure will provide for fuel off-loading facilities to service the landing of fuel barges ranging in size up to 240 feet long by 60 feet wide. A small floating structure will also be required for the fueling of small vessels such as commercial fishing vessels and tugs.

"Tenders should be called shortly for the project, and it is hoped that work can be completed by the end of November," said the Skeena M.P. "A cost estimate has been prepared by the Department of Public Works, but cannot be released until a contract has been awarded."

Campagnolo met in Massett this weekend with Mayor Nick Grosse, and discussed with him the plans for the new dock.

World Briefs

BULLFIGHTERS BACK OUT

MADRID (Reuter) — The 19th round of Madrid's annual bullfighting festival was cancelled Wednesday when picadors and banderilleros protested the detention of six colleagues by refusing to fight. Six picadors had been arrested Tuesday for refusing to reduce the weight of armor on their horses to the regulation level for that day's bullfight. The picadors claimed the bulls were too strong and powerful for normal armor.

KILLED IN BLAST

VERACRUZ, Mexico (AP) — An explosion in a natural gas pipeline near Veracruz killed four workers Wednesday and critically injured three others, police said. An official of Pemex, the state oil monopoly, said the explosion occurred while the 48-inch pipe was being tested for maximum pressure resistance. Pemex is building the 360-kilometre (851-mile) line between its Cactus oilfields on the Gulf coast and Reynosa, near the Texas border.

PLEADS GUILTY

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Pittsburgh man who seven years ago commandeered an Allegheny Airlines jet to Cuba pleaded guilty in federal court Wednesday to aircraft piracy. Richard Witt, 25, admitted hijacking the airliner carrying 91 passengers on a flight from Pittsburgh to Boston on Sept. 19, 1970. He had returned March 21 to the United States and was arrested by the FBI.

Peigans Lift Dam Blockade

BROCKET, Alta. (CP) — The Peigan Indian band has lifted a blockade of an irrigation weir on its land, but the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District will not be allowed to use reserve roads to reach the dam, a band spokesman said today.

Percy Smith, the band's land manager, said the irrigation district will have to fly workers and equipment to the site—6½ kilometres inside the reserve—by helicopter.

The band blockaded the irrigation works, which supply water to about 133,000 acres of irrigated land, 900 farm families and 2,700 residents of communities north of Lethbridge, for three weeks. The Peigans claim ownership of 4.1 acres of Oldman River bed on which the works sit and are demanding compensation for use of the land.

The Peigans defied an Alberta Supreme Court injunction issued last week that ordered the band not to interfere with irrigation district attempts to open the dam's flood gates.

The irrigation district countered with an application for a contempt-of-court citation.

ORDERED TO APPEAR

The application was heard Wednesday in Edmonton by Chief Justice J.V.H. Milvain, who ordered six members of the band to appear before him in Lethbridge next Tuesday to show cause why they should not be held in contempt.

Following the chief justice's decision, Smith and Chief Nelson Small Legs Sr. announced on a Lethbridge radio talk show that the blockade would be lifted in 24 hours. But Smith said today that the band is still determined to reach a cash settlement for use of the land on which the dam sits.

Smith said the band probably will demand a settlement much higher than the $500,000 it had originally sought. He said the decision to lift the blockade was made because the provincial government refused to negotiate a settlement on the contested dam site unless the Indians lifted the blockade.

FLY IN EQUIPMENT

Smith said that men and equipment will have to be flown to the site for as long as the province wants the blockade lifted, an expensive proposition that the band hopes will lend pressure to its demands.

He said of the federal Indian Act, stipulates that yearly permits, signed by the band chief and the Indian affairs minister, are required before non-residents can travel on reserve lands.

In addition to an immediate cash settlement of at least $500,000, the Peigans also had demanded $2 an acre annually for each acre of land irrigated by the works.

The irrigation district also claims ownership of the contested 4.1 acres. The land, along with another 203.38 acres, was expropriated in 1922 by the federal Indian affairs department and sold to the irrigation district.

Smith said it now is up to the Indians to determine when negotiations will begin, but "there's no room for negotiations on anything at this stage."

Riverlodge Changes Over Budget

by Scott Browes

The original estimate for the Riverlodge renovations in Kitimat was $1.2 million, but this has been proven too low by tenders coming into the municipal managers office in Kitimat.

Acting municipal manager Clark Brewer explained that city council and administration "are taking a detailed look at the alternatives available."

Brewer would not directly attribute the increases to inflation or any other single factor but he did agree that "it is more difficult to estimate renovations than rebuilding."

Tenders on the project have been received by the office and have a low bid at about $1,399 million by Cana Construction of Vancouver.

All totalled there were seven bids, the highest being about $1.6 million.

The project stands to be examined by the architects, council, and administration, Brewer explained.

There is no evidence that the increase in Riverlodge costs might happen to the proposed City Centre redevelopment recreation complex as it was originally quoted, assured Brewer.

Tahltan Band Claims Valley

TAHLTAN TRIBE SAYS - "WE STILL OWN THE STIKINE VALLEY" Recent attempts by the B.C. Lands Department to auction off some land in the Stikine Valley, near Telegraph Creek, B.C., has prompted quick and angry response from the Tahltan Indians who still hold the aboriginal title to this remote, scenic corner of British Columbia.

In a special band council resolution dated May 25, 1978, the leaders of the Tahltan Tribe call upon the government of B.C. and the government of Canada to "avoid friction and misunderstanding" by first making treaty with the rightful owners of the land before any settlement plans or industrial developments are attempted.

The band council's resolution warns senior governments that the Tahltan People have never given up their rights and sovereignty over these lands, rivers and resources, and that such government action as a "land auction" constitutes an illegal and unfriendly encroachment upon Tahltan lands and rights.

Underlining their "sovereign right" to the Stikine lands, the Tahltan Band Council's resolution to the government explains "We are still...dependent for our living on our country. To lose it...we would lose our means of living and therefore our lives."

They further state, "We deny the B.C. government has any title (to) or right of ownership in our country. We have never treated with them, nor given them any such title."

The Tahltan leaders urged that "All questions regarding our lands, hunting, fishing, etc., and every matter concerning our welfare, be settled by treaty between us and the Dominion and B.C. governments."

A fatal motor vehicle accident on Keith Avenue shortly after midnight Thursday resulted in the death of one person and hospitalization of another. Driver of the vehicle spent the night in jail. The car, a Vega, hit a telephone pole in the 4200 block Keith. Charges are pending, but police have not released any further information.

Police are also investigating an accident which occurred at 3:40 a.m. on Highway 16 approximately five miles east of Terrace. The driver of a 1978 pickup which rolled over received minor injuries. His name was not released.

Fishermen criticize Energy Study

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jack Nichol, president of the 7,000-member United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union, said today the National Energy Board hearings, here are unnecessary in view of the federal government's action in dispensing earlier with the West Coast Oil Ports Inquiry.

Nichol said it was wrong for the government to order the NEB to investigate Canada's energy needs and the feasibility of a West Coast oil port after a federal cabinet spokesman had stated there was no need for an oil port now or in the near future.

Nichol was referring to a statement by Environment Minister Len Marchand who said the government had decided to cancel the West Coast Oil Ports Inquiry, conducted by Dr. Andrew Thompson earlier this year, in view of the lack of demand for a port.

remarks after he read into the hearings record a submission from a Prince Rupert, B.C. environmentalist group called Save Our Shores, which complained about the lack of funding available to groups to appear before the hearings.

Nichol said that allowing Canadian oil to rise to the level of world market prices was an opportunity for the oil companies to make a fast buck rather than an attempt at a rational energy program for Canada.

PORTS NEEDED

"If we simply allow massive exports we will approach a time when Canada will have to have West Coast oil ports," he said.

Nichol's organization presented a brief opposing a Kitimat Pipe Line Ltd. proposal to build a port at Kitimat on the north coast of B.C. to receive Alaskan crude oil and a pipeline to Edmonton from which the oil would be shipped through existing pipelines to the northern, mid-west and eastern United States.

Nichol also said the NEB hearings should consider other forms of energy such as natural gas and coal, which might finally determine the country's energy policy.

He was interrupted by Fred Lamar, NEB general counsel, who said the board was considering other forms of energy.

Stabback said Nichol's remarks were unwarranted in view of the fact the board had considered briefs on the subject in Calgary and was going to hold separate hearings into natural gas in the fall.

"The board has already received a large body of knowledge on other forms of energy and will receive a lot more in future hearings," he said.

Stabback also said the current hearings were much broader in scope than an investigation of the need for a West Coast oil port.

The Save Our Shores brief Nichols read the NEB said "overwhelming preponderance" of briefs from oil companies had been heard and that the board has shown "an arrogant disregard" for the value of public participation.

The UFAWU brief stressed the danger of an oil port to the fishing industry and the danger to its future growth.

ICBC Dial-a-Claim

The Insurance Corporation of B.C. is introducing a Dial-a-Claim system for the convenience of the citizens in the Terrace region.

The move follows pilot projects conducted in Prince George, Kamloops and Duncan which resulted in a good start-up ratio of 60 percent of claims being phoned to ICBC.

Commencing June 5 in this area, the new system is designed to speed up service and save valuable time for the motorist by adopting an estimate-by-appointment operation.

The Dial-a-Claim system is simple and works this way. When a motorist has a claim or is involved in an accident, he or she telephones the Terrace Claims Centre and reports the details to an adjuster.

If there is vehicle damage, an appointment will be made for the driver to bring the vehicle to the Claims Centre at a convenient time for appraisal by an estimator.

Tom Holmes, Senior Vice-President Auto Insurance said, "The system should remove the possibility of having to wait at the Centre and will save time because the estimator will be expecting the vehicle and will have on hand the information provided over the telephone."

B.C. Briefs

INQUEST ORDERED
CASTLEGAR (CP) — RCMP said Wednesday that an inquest has been ordered into the death of Robert Wilgoosh, 17, of Nanaimo, who died of injuries suffered in a two-car, head-on collision near here May 20. Ten other persons were injured in the accident.

WILL ATTEND
VICTORIA (CP) — Lorne Nicolson (NDP—Nelson-Creston) said Wednesday he has accepted an invitation to join a delegation of international parliamentarians in New York on Saturday and Sunday to attend the special United Nations session on disarmament. Nicolson said in a news release he will join about five other Canadian parliamentarians who will lend support to delegates at the session.

GRANTS DISTRIBUTED
VICTORIA (CP) — The provincial government has begun the distribution of $24 million in unconditional grants to about 140 municipalities throughout B.C., Municipal Affairs Minister Hugh Curtis said Wednesday. The payments represent two instalments of a distribution which will occur at regularly monthly intervals through the balance of the year, Curtis said.

PROJECTS FUNDED
VICTORIA (CP) — Three separate projects have received grants totalling $301,250 under the federal-provincial agriculture and rural development subsidiary agreement, the two governments announced Wednesday. The Milligan Creek area in the Peace River region of B.C. received $200,000 for construction of a 77-kilometre single-phase power line, while $60,000 will go towards a review of all aspects of the B.C. swine industry. The governments said they will contribute $41,250 towards a project to examine tree fruit handling systems in the Okanagan area.

IT'S A TALL ORDER
ALERTBAY, B.C. (CP) — This community boasts the world's highest totem pole and a tall headache. Bankers served notice for a debt of $2,000 plus interest incurred to finish the 200-foot pole and dating to 1973. While discussing the problem, the board of trade was given a $1,000 gift for the pole and says it will be out of debt by December.

Mistrial bid in sex case denied

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — County court Judge David Hinds dismissed an application Wednesday for declaration of a mistrial in the case of Raymond Rodgers, 42, charged with having intercourse with a female under 14 years of age.

Defence counsel Jim Vilvang argued that Judge Hinds had placed himself in an impossible position by deciding to admit testimony given Monday by Viola Kless and 14-year-old daughter Paula about conversations they had with Rodgers.

Vilvang said the judge allowed the evidence on the basis of what he alleged was an incorrect interpretation of a 1917 case by Crown prosecutor Sam Hanson.

In dismissing the application, Judge Hinds said he was not satisfied he was wrong in admitting the evidence, but said that his ruling that the evidence was admissible was no indication of the weight he will give it in his final judgment.

Kless had testified that Rodgers told her in the fall of 1976 that he was interested in Paula, who was then 12 years old. She testified he said he would "like to have Paula but that if he was, he'd have to have her soon because she was growing very full and he liked to have his girls very petite and small."

During the proceedings Wednesday, Judge Hinds heard three hours of voir dire testimony from two 14-year-old girls not related to the case, evidence he later ruled was not admissible as "similar fact evidence."

Similar fact evidence is of a similar nature to that involved in the charge, but not directly related to it. The trial continues.

Kitimat Fire Chief Bill Dawson shows the "dangerous toys" which youths in Kitimat have been flying around. These potential "fire-setters" could be acting in ignorance. Burning candles attached to the bottom of a plastic bag might be fun to watch, as is any hot air balloon, but without guide wires or a mode of restraint the balloons could very easily fly out of sight and land on a house, in a window, or in a dry forest area causing serious results. Chief Dawson asks that if this type of recreation or scientific experimentation is to persist, "Please use guide wires." A fire is the pilots' responsibility and they could be charged under the Criminal Code for unrestricted use of a flammable unit.

"Drug-crazed nicotine addicts" blasted on Non-smokers Day

VICTORIA (CP) — Don Lockstead (NDP—Mackenzie), the only member of the British Columbia legislature to oppose an increase in taxes on cigarettes and tobacco, pointed out to the legislature Wednesday that it was Non-Smokers Day in B.C.

A chain-smoker, he urged all who can to kick this "very addictive drug." Health Minister Bob McClelland, a former smoker, said that costs to the province as a direct result of smoking are astronomical, and that 7.8 per cent of all physician services were for the treatment of smoking-related problems.

He said medical and hospital costs involved in the treatment of those illnesses totalled more than $45 million.

The minister said hospitals had been asked to restrict smoking to certain areas and to eliminate cigarette vending machines.

"In a few instances the co-operation has been excellent, but frankly I have been disappointed by the lack of action by many of our hospitals."

URGES TREATMENT
Opposition leader Dave Barrett, in a facetious attack on the government's bill providing compulsory treatment for heroin addicts, said the government should "stamp out those cigarette-crazed addicts who cause so much havoc to the people of this province."

He said McClelland should have the "gumption to include nicotine in Bill 18 (Heroin Treatment Act) so that our morals can be imposed upon those freedom-loving people out there who choose to smoke cigarettes against our wishes and our desires because so much money is lost, and it makes them cough."

The bill also proposes a three-year treatment program which includes detention for a maximum of three years, attendance at a treatment clinic or supervision.

"This drug-crazed group of nicotine addicts needs the heavy hand of that minister to stop this addiction from spreading across this nation. I suggest that the bill will allow us to lock them up, put them away for being nicotine-crazed addicts that he condemns."

Some pilots speaking French

TORONTO (CP) — Some pilots flying large commercial jetliners over Quebec have started speaking with ground control in French, says Roger Demers, president of the Association des Gens de l'Air du Quebec.

A federal inquiry into whether bilingual air traffic control is safe will report in September and until then the transport ministry has prohibited the use of French for air control on planes flying under federal instrument flight rules.

Officially, the use of French in the air in Canada is restricted to small planes that use visual flight rules at six Quebec airports.

However, officials say French now is being used frequently for instrument flight rules control at the Quebec City airport by pilots flying for Quebecair, a regional carrier, and for the Quebec government.

Walter McLeish, director-general of civil aeronautics for the ministry, said he is satisfied that the unauthorized use of French is not causing any safety problems.

McLeish did not know whether pilots for any other airlines had used French on flights under instrument flight rules control, but said he would not be surprised if more airlines were involved.

The transport ministry has not ordered the use of French stopped because of a legal appeal by the Gens de l'Air against the federal prohibition, said McLeish.

Ken Maley, president of the Canadian Air Line Pilots' Association, who led the campaign against French in the air in 1976, would not comment on whether the unauthorized bilingualism now in effect over Quebec is causing any problems.

He said he wants to avoid the emotionalism which pervaded the bilingualism issue in 1976.

Hydro plant would use coal

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Hydro will probably decide late this summer whether to build an $86 million experimental power plant which would use Western Canada coal, Dave Robertson, a spokesman for the Crown corporation, said Wednesday.

The plant would use advanced technology to produce electric power and synthetic natural gas from coal.

The recommendation to build the plant is the result of a one-year study undertaken on behalf of Hydro by the federal department of energy, mines and resources and by Coal Processing Consultants of England, assisted by Intercontinental Engineering Ltd. and Acres Consulting Services Ltd. both of Vancouver.

The consultants suggested a fluidized bed furnace powering a gas turbine and a 70-megawatt generator, connected to Hydro's transmission line.

The plant would scale up this new coal conversion technique from present small experimental models and "give Hydro realistic operating data for full-sized coal-fired thermal generating plants of the future," Hydro said.

EXPENSES OFFSET
The consultants said that some of the operating expense of the experiment could be offset by the value of the power it would provide to the provincial transmission grid.

Court workers say office unsafe

VANCOUVER (CP) — Workers at the court team probation office in the city's downtown eastside area moved out Wednesday, saying the building that houses their office is too dangerous a place to work.

The 27 workers set up temporary shop at the nearby traffic court.

Ray Lewis, a member of the court team's safety committee, said the building has inadequate fire precautions, poor lighting and dirty toilets.

"We will not go back into that building and we have instructed our members not to set foot in it," said Lewis.

"But it's business as usual" at the new location, said Helen Thorson, another committee member.

"There's no work stoppage or slowdown."

The team, under authority of the attorney general, supervises about 80 persons a day who are on bail and probation.

The workers are members of the B.C. Government Employees Union.

Thorson said the union decided to take action before someone got killed.

CAME AWAY

Lewis said part of the fire escape came away from the wall when he stepped onto it.

She said a report by a government health inspector showed stenographers to be working under light conditions measured at 5 to 15 foot candles when the legal minimum was 70.

The windows were glued shut with bird droppings, she said, and stenographers had to use electrical outlets that were only inches away from water pipes. But Francis Sim, part owner of the building, thinks his former tenants are being unfair.

"They've never told us anything," he said. "If they had complaints, they should have told us first."

Sim said the building's current owners, Tom and Sons Enterprises, bought the building in 1974 and since then he and the other owners have tried to meet all safety regulations.

The building was built in 1911 and contains about 40 offices, he said.

Sim said he had been informed about the broken fire escape only the day before and added that the building has passed recent inspections by a city fire warden.

Other tenants didn't seem to share the court team's concern.

Dave Watts, a dental mechanic on the third floor, said, "I've been here for 30 years and I'm still alive."

Elsbeth Gardner, a lawyer on the sixth floor, said she wasn't aware of any fire safety or health problems.

Students survey attitudes toward amalgamation

by Karen West - Johnson

"Amalgamation? Should Terrace and Thornhill Unite?"

That was the question put to our Social Studies 11 class at Caledonia High School. To find the answers, we constructed a questionnaire and distributed it to the random household in Terrace and Thornhill.

From 197 people surveyed, 60 percent were from the Terrace area, and 40 percent were from Thornhill. These are the results we found.

The Thornhill residents questioned liked the lower taxes and rural living aspects of their area. On the other hand, Terrace residents liked the controlled and better developed city area. Many commented on the convenience of being close to the shopping areas, schools, and recreational facilities. Only three of the respondents questioned were opposed to live in Terrace. None of the Thornhill residents questioned would prefer to live in Terrace.

On the crucial question of amalgamation, 66 percent of the Thornhill residents were opposed to it, and only 27 percent were in favour for amalgamation. (Six percent were undecided.) Of the Terrace residents questioned 68 percent were for amalgamation, and 23 percent were against it. (Four percent were undecided.)

Thirty-nine of the Thornhill residents we questioned stated that they would go as far as relocating if amalgamation were to take place.

Seventy-two percent of the Thornhill residents felt that they would not benefit from amalgamation. Only 28 percent of the residents felt they would benefit. The majority of Terrace residents felt amalgamation would benefit them (57 percent while only 43 percent felt they would not benefit).

The amount of land tax Terrace and Thornhill residents are paying is as follows:

Dollars Terrace Thornhill
0-250 82 per cent 60 per cent
251-500 22 per cent 27 per cent
501-750 20 per cent 11 per cent
751 and 50 per cent 2 per cent

Terrence residents seemed to be unwilling to pay a higher land tax if amalgamation takes place. 88 percent said 'no' to more land tax while 12 percent said 'o.k.' Thornhill residents seemed to agree, with 62 percent saying 'no' to more land tax, and 38 percent saying 'yes'. It looks like people want the benefits, but resent the money spent to get them.

Terrence and Thornhill residents seemed to agree that higher taxes would be one of the bigger burdens of amalgamation. Terrace residents also commented on the difficulties of zoning and servicing Thornhill. (water, sewage, etc.)

What if amalgamation was forced? Would the residents of Terrace and Thornhill object? Out of the Thornhill residents questioned 50 percent would object and 50 percent wouldn't. Those who would object said that amalgamation should be the choice of the people not some government official in Victoria. Fifty-four percent of the Terrace residents questioned said they wouldn't object if amalgamation was forced.

Forty-six percent would object for the reason of "people's choice".

That is a cross section of the community and how they felt about amalgamation. Do we really need it, or even want it? What do you think?

Legal mail opening may be inconsistent

OTTAWA (CP) — Solicitor General Jean-Jacques Blais acknowledged today that the government may be acting inconsistently by pressing forward with legislation to make mail opening by the RCMP legal while the issue is being studied by a royal commission.

But, he said, mail-opening authority now is needed to deal with a growing drug traffic problem.

Blais was testifying during Commons justice committee examination of a bill that would give police the legal right to intercept and open private mail in drug and terrorist investigations.

Federal police have been opening mail illegally for about 40 years.

William Jarvis (PC—Perth/Wilmot) said he found Blais's position on the legislation hard to accept.

Blais agreed that there "could be an appearance of inconsistency" in the government's action.

Wiretap challenge

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada reserved judgment today on a challenge to the federal government's authority to apply for wiretaps without obtaining provincial consent.

Lawyers for an Edmonton man convicted of heroin trafficking argued that a Criminal Code section empowering the federal solicitor-general to seek wiretap authorization is invalid. It is an invasion of provincial jurisdiction over the administration of criminal justice, they said.

Four provinces, Ontario, New Brunswick, Quebec and Alberta, intervened to support that argument.

However, L.P. Landry, a federal government lawyer, contended that the section is a criminal law within Parliament's competence and is not an invasion of provincial rights.

Gunther Cordes, arrested after police wiretapped his Edmonton apartment in 1975, is serving seven years for his conviction.

The court can announce its decision at any time but it might not come until next fall. It likely will pronounce the Cordes judgment jointly with a decision on whether Ottawa can begin criminal prosecutions without provincial consent.

Arguments on that point were heard earlier this week and the court reserved its decision Wednesday.

Junkies fear treatment plan

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bob is a junkie, so is his wife Barbara, and they're afraid of the provincial government's proposed compulsory treatment plan for heroin addicts.

The couple, who asked not to be identified, said Wednesday they enjoy being junkies. They don't see why heroin use is a criminal offence.

"If you can have your cocktail after work," Bob said in an interview, "why can't we have our fix?"

Health Minister Bob McClelland's proposed plan, introduced in the legislature Monday, could put Bob and Barbara in a hospital for three years of treatment.

An alternative, they said, is to make low-priced heroin available to registered addicts.

"Make it available to people like me that are 42 years old (and) are just screwed for the rest of our lives," said Bob.

He was stoned on heroin during the interview. He's on a methadone withdrawal program, but had "fixed" a few hours earlier. He can't live without being stoned, he said.

"When I have a couple of dollars in my pocket, even though I'm on the methadone, I'll go out and fix," said Bob. "There's something in my body that makes me need it."

COMPULSIVE HABIT

In fact, "if you paid me for this interview, I'd go downtown right now and score," he said.

He wasn't paid and had offered to do the interview.

Bob became addicted to heroin at 17 and has spent 20 of his 42 years in jail for heroin-related offences. Roxanne, his seven-month-old daughter, "was conceived on a pass from jail," he said.

Barbara, 25 and an addict for eight years, is a better crook. She has funded her habit through shoplifting and breaking and entering. She's been caught and put on probation a few times, but has never been in jail.

Unlike most women heroin addicts, she has never prostituted herself, but "I would if I had to," she said.

Having a family has given Bob a responsibility he's never had before, he said, and he doesn't want to go to jail again.

"I used to kick in a few places (break and enter) and do a little boosting (Shoplifting)," he said.

"You're talking to a guy who was never a good thief."

"Maybe that's why I was always in jail."

BUCHANAN, Ga. (AP) — A father who spent thousands of dollars on high school graduation gifts for his daughter only to learn she would not graduate has been charged with attacking the county school superintendent during a pre-graduation religious ceremony.

"I done what any other father would have done," said Frank Lowman, 38. "I whupped him."

Lowman spent Sunday night in jail and was released Monday after being charged with two counts of making threats, two counts of aggravated assault and one count of creating a public disturbance, officials said.

County school superintendent Bob Watson was speaking to seniors at Sunday's baccalaureate service in the high school gymnasium when Lowman is alleged to have begun punching him. Several seniors subdued Lowman until police arrived.

Debra had been told she would be unable to graduate because she failed a final civics examination by nine points, said her uncle, Mark Lowman.

Tough pipeline proposals could halt construction

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP) — The $10-billion Alaska Highway gas pipeline might not materialize if its supervising agency doesn't become more realistic, says Yukon MP Eric Nielsen.

The Progressive Conservative MP said in an interview Wednesday that the Northern Pipeline Agency is imposing terms and conditions on the project that have never been applied before in the Yukon.

Nielsen made the comments after reading a 380-page, two-volume document of tough proposals released last week by Mitchell Sharp, the agency's commissioner.

The document, a first draft, was released to provincial and territorial governments as well as public interest groups for comments and recommendations to be submitted by June 15.

The agency will consider the submissions in preparing a final draft of proposed terms for Foothills Pipe Lines (Yukon) Ltd. of Calgary, the company sponsoring the Canadian section of the pipeline.

PUBLIC HEARINGS

The final draft will then be presented at public meetings this summer and fall. Input from these meetings will be included in the final set of regulations with which Foothills must comply during pipeline construction.

"After having looked at the terms of those two volumes, I have got no way of estimating the costs involved to meet them," Nielsen said.

But he said Foothills would require a small army of bureaucrats to provide all the data and reports, which will add to costs.

"And the more you pile up the costs, the less viable the project becomes. There has to be a limit somewhere where the project becomes unviable."

MANY REGULATIONS

The proposed regulations cover everything from protection of wildlife to pressing Foothills to hire northerners and giving northern businessmen as many contracts as possible.

The socio-economic proposals cover such topics as provisions to prevent housing disruptions and shortages, payments for damages, and opportunities for Yukon residents to obtain equity and participate in the board of directors of Foothills Pipe Lines (South Yukon) Ltd., a Foothills subsidiary building the Yukon portion of the pipeline.

Nielsen said some of the recommendations are simply absurd.

"All motor vehicle traffic on the highways must yield the right-of-way to wildlife. That means everything from field mice to moose. You'd be committing an offence if you ran over a gopher."

"It's just ridiculous to think that people are going to argue with a moose."

NEAREST THING TO A LIFETIME* ENGINE!!!
(Reduces the frictional wear-and-tear that causes you to "trade in" every few years).

NEW T.M.T. HOT "PLATES" THE INSIDES OF YOUR ENGINE WITH A 50,000 MILE PROTECTIVE Du Pont Teflon* COATING!

Reg. U.S. Pat. Office for Du Pont's Fluorocarbon Resins.

FACT The cost of owning and operating any vehicle—car, bus, truck, you name it—has gone straight through the ceiling! The cost of gasoline and oil? UP! The payments demanded by skilled (and not-so-skilled) mechanics? UP! The price tags on new cars and trucks? UP! It's positively sickening—and it's going to get worse before it gets any better!

ED ALMQUIST WORLD FAMOUS AUTOMOTIVE ENGINEER REPORTS ON T.M.T. TEFLON TREATMENT.

"The active chemical ingredient in 'T.M.T.' has a special affinity for metal which causes it to experience and trained eyes of even the most skilled of mechanics. They will notice a decided thickness which means a 'controlled' build-up occurs around worn surfaces, which accounts for the numerous user-ports of reduced 'blow-by'. Increased compression readings, and reduced oil consumption!"

"And in order to effect a permanent treatment, you simply add T.M.T. to the crankcase oil through the oil filler hole (so easy—that even a child can do it)—preferably after the engine has reached normal operating temperature. The engine should then be run for a minimum of thirty minutes, in order to make sure that all friction surfaces are 'plated'. Only eight ounces are required for the average passenger car or small truck engine."

"CONCLUSION: Not only is 'T.M.T.' easy to use (it should take 30-seconds at the most for adding a permanent treatment)—but its results can be seen even under the careful scrutiny of any mechanic! The benefits that can be expected with 'T.M.T.' in the engine are as follows: In thirty minutes, in order to make sure that all friction surfaces are 'plated'. Only eight ounces are required for the average passenger car or small truck engine."

Now that you've heard from the expert... listen to the raves of ordinary drivers. THE RESULTS PEOPLE HAVE OBTAINED ARE SO SENSATIONAL, WE CAN'T PRINT THEM. THAT'S WHY WE'VE "BEEPED" THEM OUT OF THESE ACTUAL CUSTOMER LETTERS...

Motorcycle Racer gets more power!
"As an engineering student and racer, I was interested in what T.M.T. would do in a tenth mile speed test. A series of runs from a standing start showed that our E.T. (Elapsed Time) was reduced by XX a second after T.M.T. was added to the fuel mix in my 125 c.c. Kawasaki Motorcross racing motorcycle. As a student of engineering this proved that T.M.T. reduced friction and increased power."

"Bad Deal" becomes "Good Deal" with T.M.T.
"I've tried gas savers, pills, new filters, engine treatments, etc. My friend told me about a product that his father had just tested for his fleet of trucks and I'm sure you guessed it was T.M.T. My mileage has gone from XX to an unbelievably astounding XX. My father, who is a car mechanic, told me it's impossible but I've kept exact records on my last four tankfuls and have proven the old saying that even fathers can be wrong. Of course he probably won't admit it until he uses the T.M.T. in his car that I'm giving him as a present."

Auto Mechanic recommends T.M.T.
"I am an Auto Mechanic and I drive a '67 Caddy, and it was using a lot of gas in the city and on the highways. I was getting 14 miles to the gallon, but now, since I've been using 'T.M.T.' I pick up XX gallons in the city—and XX gallons on the highway, so I know you people have a good product and I will recommend it!"

Report from Palestine

News bulletin from the Camel Drivers' Union of Persia: "Notice, No owners of camels crossing the Persian border may operate their own camel. All owners must employ only union members of CDUP. Infraction of this ruling will result in driver-owners who are non-union members being subject to picketing by CDUP and their camels declared 'hot'."

Message from the Judean Postal Employees Union: "Due to the increased practice of the Roman Government to use slaves from non-unionized districts for the delivery of mail, the recent decree by Caesar Augustus that all the world shall be taxed will be subject to Work-to-rule delivery restrictions. This means, also, the 24-hour a day, 168 hour work week will be disregarded until further notice. Furthermore, all new additions to staff must be approved by the Pan-Roman Slave Employees Union before being allowed to take over routine postal walks."

Directive to Our Brothers in the Sheep Herding Profession: "It has come to our attention that, contrary to Section Four of the Shepherders' Manual, some brothers have fallen into the disputable practice of 'abiding in the fields to watch over their flocks by night'. This constitutes a violation of regulations, therefore, and is to cease, forthwith. Night-abiding by S.H.O.B. (Sheep Herders of Bethlehem) Local 424 is known to have occurred in the past."

"Furthermore, the use of plastic crooks while herding is still a violation, except in those areas where wooden crooks are unavailable. Only crooks bearing the Crookmaker's Guild seal of approval are permitted."

"Special rates of pay must be enforced by locals for the shepherding of black sheep at night. A ten per cent bonus has now been negotiated for the herding of white sheep during snowstorms."

Notice to all members of the Innkeepers' Union in the Bethlehem-Nazareth district: "No transients who have not made advance bookings by Roman Courier Service, or who do not hold Tel Aviv Carte Bianca credit scrolls, should be permitted to use the hotel facilities of our Inns. Likewise, it has been reported recently that overflow accommodation is being offered to travellers in stables adjacent to inns. This contravenes Innkeeper Union regulations and members so doing will be stoned or transported to Albion."

General Decree Number 647932 from the hand of Caesar Augustus: "During the coming ingathering for taxation purposes as commanded by my Decree number 647931, it is quite likely that much imbibing of grapejuice will occur by my loyal (and other) subjects."

"Under no circumstances, therefore, and thereto, will U.F.O. sighting reports be accepted by my officials. Any persons declaring they have seen Visitors from Outer Space will be appropriately dealt with."

Notice to Caesar's Guard, Legions I, II, and III: "Soothsayers have prophesied the landing in these parts of a small humanoid. Should such occur, refer to Plan CXVIII for appropriate action." Memo the Customs Officials at all Judean Border Points: "Oriental immigrants, especially those travelling by four-footed beasts of burden, including ox-cart, horse, mule, donkey or camel, are to be carefully searched for (1) gold (2) incense (3) exotic oils."

"Furthermore, it is of the utmost importance that such bearers of gifts be thoroughly checked for credentials. There is strong rumor prevalent that individuals, disguised to pass for 'Wise Men' are in truth promoters from the Western world, in search of Arab Oil."

Musicians' Union Local XIV "notice to all members. Please report, using the correct standard form for the purpose, any unauthorized singing over the next four-week period, by person or persons describing themselves as 'Heavenly hosts' or similar groups. Only public singing by scroll-carrying members of the Musicians' Union is permissible."

Memo from the War Veterans of Roman and Judean Wars: "It has been brought to our attention a movement is afoot to bring about Peace on Earth and Goodwill to all men."

Members will understand what the prospects of employment for soldiers, seamen of ships of war, guards, legionnaires, etc. would be, should this movement prove successful. Every effort must be made to stamp out this pacifist mongering group. Address all scrolls to, "Veterans, Row 16, Amphitheatre, Roma, Italia."

Another story to tell

John was an architect by profession but his heart was on the water. Few were surprised, therefore when he planned his family holiday around a fishing trip.

Preparations were made for the vacation of a life time. A new camper and canoe, a separate tent for the kids and, most important, fishing rods for everyone. Nothing was forgotten.

Or so he thought. The first hint that something was wrong came after the canoe overturned. Not much advance warning—but, then, that's life.

There were no personal flotation devices, neither for himself nor for his two sons, aged 9 and 12. The water was unseasonably cold but the 500 yards to the shoreline appeared within reach.

It wasn't. All three drowned. John's body was never recovered.

The circumstances surrounding this story are tragic. They are also well rehearsed. In fact, ending scenes similar to this were run 143 times last year in B.C. alone.

One hundred and forty-three deaths attributed to drowning. In just one year.

It is little wonder, therefore, that the Canadian Red Cross is, this week, placing a very high priority in promoting water safety.

Cathy Redisky, Program Coordinator for our area, is responsible for ensuring that, locally, Red Cross' message gets across.

"Our focus during this year's Water Safety Week," began Redisky, "is Small Craft Safety. We're hoping to coordinate our efforts, which is on a provincial level, with those plans already set up by your own local aquatic people."

The challenge of raising the "water safety I.Q." of the public, is a constant—and frustrating—one. Apparently, we, the general public, seem to go out of our way to turn our boating adventures into unwanted disasters.

"When are we going to wake up and realize that it's a dangerous world out there on the water—as attractive and alluring as it appears?"

There are many things which we can do to improve our present performance. Most of them, Red Cross points out, are fundamental and purely obvious.

Forecasting the weather through watching natural signs is something of a lost art, but as Redisky is quick to point out, "surely some common sense still prevails."

"Sudden changes in cloud formation, a drop in temperature, a falling barometer needle—all of these things were second nature to sailors of the past."

"And what about the lifejacket? So many people venture out on the water, even when it's rough, without one on. They think they're too bulky."

"But how many people even think of the P.F.D.'s (Personal Flotation Devices) available? They vary in their ability to provide flotation assistance in the water, but as long as they have the M.O.T. endorsement they're certainly an attractive alternative for the person who would otherwise wear nothing."

Other reminders are, perhaps, not quite so obvious. Like staying low to keep the boat balanced. And endeavoring to take the waves head on.

"But all of these things have been said before," she concluded.

"We, in Red Cross, and your local water safety people can only do so much. I only hope people are listening."

So do we.

This he didn't find, although he brought back the fable of the kingdom of the Saguenay, which spurred further exploration.

On this expedition, which lasted only for the summer, he explored the mouth of the St. Lawrence River without discovering there was a

Don't lose the momentum

from the Vancouver Board of Trade

Public interest or concern tends to change with every whim and fancy. It ebbs and flows on any given subject in direct proportion to media coverage and platform promotion. Even the greatest optimist does not really believe that ignoring a concern or a problem constitutes a real solution. We realize that because our interest has receded and our anxiety is no longer seen, it does not follow that there is no longer a real cause for worry. It does not mean that the problem is resolved or the condition rectified.

A good case in point is national unity. Remember how, late last year and early this year, the debate raged continuously? Every paper, magazine, radio and television station was featuring articles or speakers on the subject. Indignation ran high at the thought of losing Quebec, or at the idea of giving in to its demands as the price of keeping Canada united. The divergence of these opinions, bounced against the Separatists with their own ideals, led to lively argument. The amount of discussion and the drawing of lines almost led one observer to believe that the climate was becoming right for hammering out a solution.

In Vancouver, we did our part. We all had our visiting speakers on the subject—from Claude Ryan to Jean Chretien. We dutifully read our newspapers and those publications emanating from the east. We watched our television sets and listened to our radios until concern on national unity apparently reached a saturation point. But that was yesterday—where is national unity today?

After the visit of the Task Force on National Unity to Vancouver in February, it seemed to be all over—not bar the shouting but including the shouting. Discussion, and probably most action, seem to have died. There is not currently any great or apparent concern about national unity. We would like to think that we are wrong but see little to prove this so. Like sweeping dust under the carpet, forgetting about Quebec does not make its problems disappear. They are not permanently hidden nor are they likely to vanish of their own volition.

Isn't anybody doing anything? We know that there are exchanges of school children planned for vacation time. Some took place in the Easter break and The Vancouver Board of Trade was pleased to host a group of Quebec students last month. More exchanges are planned for the summer holiday time. We find this fact encouraging. It allows us to think that the next generation of Canadians may grow in unity.

BUT, we cannot wait. The problem is now, with the generation currently wielding influence. The problem IS now—and the solution must be sought NOW. The unity of Canada must be solved before it is dissolved. Those infamous words of Eric Nicol's "Canada cancelled through lack of interest" might be just too close to the truth—a self-fulfilling prophecy we do not need.

The recent speculation on a federal election and the changes in the gallop poll, which suggest that the government may lose some of its support in Quebec, both point to the need for a more urgent appraisal of national unity. This is NOT the time to sit back, forgetting the Separatists of Quebec, even if the local and national media appear to be allowing us to forget them. More than ever, we must make efforts to reach into Quebec and to assure those who want to see a united Canada that the rest of the country cares. It should go without saying, that extra endeavours to reach those who are not dedicated to unity, are worth every ounce of effort that can be made.

We have all been urged to take our holidays at home this year. The rationale, of course, being to prevent a further drain of Canadian dollars and to help support the price of our dollar in the foreign capital markets. May we make an additional plea that, if your plans include a visit to Eastern Canada, that they also include Quebec? going there, talking to—quotes—"ordinary" people about our concern can be very effective.

The Vancouver Board of Trade, as part of its continuing programme to promote national unity, is organizing a ten-day Friendship Mission to Quebec. It intends to visit not only the larger cities of Montreal and Quebec City, but also some smaller towns including Chicoutimi, Trois Rivières and Sherbrooke. A specially interesting visit will be to Shawinigan to return the visit of the group of business and professional men from there. They came to Vancouver last year, at their own expense, on a mission which they described as "buying and selling goodwill".

We have to make it clear that concern about national unity has not died. There has to be a way for each of us. Can we challenge you to find—and demonstrate—yours?

Agriculture Crisis

by Tony MacGregor

VICTORIA - The crisis between the B.C. Federation of Agriculture and the provincial government has been resolved to the satisfaction of almost everybody.

On Tuesday (May 23) a joint announcement by the BCFA and the ministry of agriculture said agreement has been reached on the contentious farm income assurance program which protects farmers when the cost of producing agricultural products exceeds the price at which they are sold.

It wasn't an easy crisis to resolve given the personalities and attitudes involved and the ongoing problems of North American agriculture.

But it has all been worked out and the long-term winners are B.C. farmers and perhaps B.C. consumers as well if the farmers' arguments about the need for a domestic agricultural industry hold water.

For many years now North American farmers have been wrestling with the cost-price squeeze which has seen the prices of things farmers need to operate a farm go up while the prices of goods farmers sell have gone down or haven't kept pace with increased costs.

The result is that many farmers have had trouble keeping solvent and many have been forced out of business.

The long-term solution to the problem is to ensure a healthy demand for B.C. agricultural products which will enable farmers to sell at a profit.

But B.C. farmers say they can't stay in business if they have to compete with farmers in the United States and other countries - some of whom receive a great deal of government assistance.

What the newly modified program does is give B.C. farmers the financial backing they need to face that foreign competition even when in the troughs of a highly cyclical business.

Agriculture Minister Jim Hewitt came under a barrage of attack when he first announced that he would have to modify the program because of its high costs.

NDP agriculture critic Barbara Wallace and former NDP agriculture minister Dave Stupich joined with the farms in defending the NDP-initiated income assurance program and Sacred popularity in the rural areas took a nosedive.

Initially, it appeared that Hewitt, who has a reputation for being a stubborn negotiator, wasn't going to budge an inch on the proposed cut-backs. But in the last few negotiating sessions with the BCFA he changed tactics and compromises were achieved which appear to have made everybody happy.

The program is now definitely a part of the B.C. agricultural scene. Both major provincial political parties are committed to it. Hewitt hails it as the best program in Canada and Pat Hibbert, president of the BCFA, says the new program is just about as good as the old one.

That means the B.C. agricultural industry will be around despite changes in government and B.C. consumers will be munching on fresh B.C. produce for years to come.

Stopping soldiers with dollars

WASHINGTON (CP) — Can development aid and diplomacy stop 40,000 Cuban soldiers?

Prime Minister Trudeau left that question unanswered as he ended discussions here Wednesday with other NATO leaders. But he made it clear that as far as Canada is concerned the growing Soviet-Cuban influence in Africa will not be opposed by anything more than dollars and diplomacy.

When asked about coming meetings in Paris and Brussels, where major NATO powers will examine ways to encourage and aid African countries to protect themselves against the Soviet-Cuban presence, Trudeau bluntly replied: "We are not invited and we are not going and we probably would not go even if we were invited."

Then, as if he had second thoughts about such implicit public criticism of a U.S.-French initiative, the prime minister suggested that reporters should "strike" the last part of the sentence. He said he did not want to "complicate" matters.

CAN HELP
Canada, he said, might play some part in countering Soviet-Cuban involvement in Africa "but our view is that we must help in peaceful ways the African majorities, wherever they are, to evolve toward greater independence, where that is required as in Zimbabwe, or toward greater economic security, as is the case in the many countries where we have assistance and technical aid of a non-military character."

Zimbabwe is the black African name for Rhodesia. Trudeau was not alone at the NATO meeting in trying to sway U.S. President Carter away from African intervention.

British Prime Minister James Callaghan also warned that NATO members should not act "out of frustration" in Africa.

Some influential members of the U.S. government, Callaghan suggested, are over-reacting at the Soviet-Cuban presence in Africa: "A lot of Christopher Columbus are setting out from the United States to discover Africa for the first time."

INFLUENCE MEETING
After the NATO summit ended, it appears that Trudeau and Callaghan had been successful in at least tempering the hardening U.S. position on Africa.

When the summit opened, Carter stirred up blaring headlines by declaring: "Our alliance centres on Europe, but our vigilance cannot be limited to the continent. In recent years, expanding Soviet power has increasingly penetrated beyond the North Atlantic area."

"As I speak today, the activities of the Soviet Union and Cuba in Africa are preventing individual nations from charting their own course."

"As members of the world's greatest alliance, we cannot be indifferent to these events—because of what they mean for Africa and because of their effect on the long-term interests of the alliance."

But when the final communiqué was written, Carter's declaration was reflected only in two sentences in which the Allied leaders "noted with concern" intervention by the Soviet Union and its allies "in the developing world" and warned that "disregard for the indivisibility of detente cannot but jeopardize the further improvement of East-West relations."

DIFFERS WITH U.S.
In another significant statement, Trudeau implicitly clashed with Carter's national security adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski, who is reported to be the leading advocate of a hard-line African policy within Carter's circle of close advisers.

Three days earlier, Brzezinski, in widely publicized comments, had blamed the Russians and the Cubans for the recent invasion of Zaire's Shaba region by Katangese rebels, and even for massacres committed by the rebels.

"We have sufficient evidence," Brzezinski had said, "to be quite confident in our conclusion that Cuba shares the political and the moral responsibility for the invasion, indeed, even for the outrages that were associated with it."

By contrast, Trudeau brought up the topic on his own initiative while answering a more general question and described the roots of the bloody invasion of Shaba in different terms: "The causes of the disturbances in Shaba are probably to a much greater extent tribal in nature than they have to do with Soviet or Castro's ideologies."

Whatever the eventual decision taken by the U.S. and other NATO governments, the twoday summit clearly afforded Canada a valuable opportunity to exert influence before the course of events is determined.

Terrorist outbreak in West Berlin

WEST BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin police began checking identity papers today in an attempt to snare a small group blamed for the city's first major outbreak of terrorism in two years.

"Everyone is required to produce identity papers and to permit searches," said broadcast announcements of the searches, authorized under anti-terrorist laws passed in West Germany earlier this year.

A West Berlin court said the searches—at traffic intersections and other public places—will be permitted for up to three months in this city of two million, isolated 170 kilometres inside East Germany.

The measures were aimed at capturing members of the Movement June 2, a West Berlin terrorist organization largely inactive for the last two years but suspected of a jailbreak, the wounding of one court-appointed defence attorney and the attempted firebombing of another since Saturday.

USED FALSE PAPERS
Six members of the group went on trial in West Berlin April 11 on murder and kidnapping charges. One of these, Till Meyer, was freed from the maximum security Moabit Prison on Saturday by two armed women carrying phoney cards identifying them as defence lawyers.

Police said some clues indicated that the escape involved four known female terrorists, three of whom staged the city's last big terrorist incident when they broke out of prison here July 7, 1976.

Julianne Plambeck, 26, Inge Viett, 34, and Gabriele Rollnick, 23, the escapees, also were suspects in the 1974 murder of a city judge and the 1975 kidnapping of city politician Peter Lorenz, the cases involved in the current trial.

Lorenz was held until authorities released five terrorist suspects from jail, including Ingrid Stepmann, 33, who police said might have been the fourth woman involved in freeing Meyer.

Dietmar Hohla, a court-appointed defence lawyer in the trial of the six suspected terrorists, was wounded slightly in the foot Wednesday when three shots were fired from a car. Another court-appointed defence lawyer found a firebomb attached to his car shortly after the Hohla shooting.

Billy Graham's revenue down

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — For the second time in its history, the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association has made public a partial financial disclosure.

The most recent disclosure, like the first one last October, was part of a registration with the Minnesota Securities Division for an annuity fund run by the association. It does not include information on five major affiliates of the Graham organization.

Figures presented to the securities division early this month show that as of March 31, 1978, the Graham association had $13.2 million in assets, liabilities of $5.3 million and "deferred giving programs" of $3.8 million.

Its net worth on March 31 was just over $4 million, down from more than $5.3 million on Dec. 31, 1977, and about $3 million at the end of 1976.

Association revenues for 1977 totaled $27.7 million, of which $26.2 million came from contributions. Reported revenues for 1976 were $28.7 million. Revenues for the first three months of this year were $5.2 million. No comparable three-month figures for 1976 were provided.

MORE FIGURES COMING
Graham and his chief lieutenant, George Wilson, said last fall that complete figures for 1977 would be made public after the first of this year.

Wilson, the association's executive vice president, said Wednesday the comprehensive report to the public would be made sometime after a meeting of the organization's executive board June 16 and 17.

The report to the securities division shows that expenditures exceeded revenues by more than $2.7 million in 1977 and by almost $1.3 million in the first three months of this year.

The bulk of expenditures, almost $27 million for the full year of 1977 and $5.7 million in the first three months of 1978, went into evangelism ministries.

Russian Missile bigger and more accurate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new long-range missile now deployed by Russia is more accurate than any previous nuclear weapon aimed from submarines against the United States, say U.S. intelligence officials.

The SSN18 can hurl three warheads at widely separated targets and has sufficient range to enjoy "a degree of sanctuary" from U.S. anti-submarine warfare ships, Pentagon officials said.

Naval intelligence considers the SSN18 bigger and more accurate than the earlier generation SSN6, which can loft only a single warhead.

The new missile has been test-fired with multiple warheads over a 7,520-kilometre, 4,700-mile range and has travelled up to 9,200 kilometres, 5,750 miles with a single warhead.

This means SSN18s could strike targets in the United States from Delta submarines stationed relatively close to Soviet home ports. The range of both the SSN18 and the SSN6 is about 2,880 kilometres, 1,800 miles longer than that of the submarine-fired U.S. Poseidon missile. However, each Poseidon carries 10 warheads that can be targeted separately.

The intelligence report on the SSN18's deployment in L-3-class submarines comes as while President Carter and national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski are voicing concern about increasing Soviet armaments.

NATO heads of government decided here Wednesday to modernize their defences, but U.S. Defence Secretary Harold Brown said he doubts the move will compensate for the massive buildup by the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact. The communist countries have taken a commanding lead over NATO in the number of combat-ready troops, tanks and tactical combat aircraft, he said.

The SSN18 is the third major new Soviet missile to become combat-ready in the last six months.

Scots heavy on the bevv

GLASGOW (AP) — The Scots are hitting the bottle so hard that they face an alcoholism problem of epidemic proportions by 1985, welfare agencies report.

They have gone "on the bevv," Glasgow slang for boozing, to drown their sorrows amid critical unemployment, industrial decline and a mountain of social ills.

"If alcohol abuse was treated as an illness, the west of Scotland would be considered to be already suffering from an epidemic," said Councillor Albert Long of Strathclyde Regional Council which governs the industrial sprawl around this major port city.

The Scottish Council on Alcoholism said alcoholism in Scotland, with only 10 per cent of Britain's 56 million population, is four times as high as it is in England and Wales. In parts of the whisky-drinking Highlands, it is 12 times as high.

The council estimated there are as many as 112,000 "problem drinkers" and at least 25,000 alcoholics in Scotland.

More than 200,000 workers in Scotland are on welfare, one in 11. Many of Glasgow's worldfamed shipyards have closed or are scrambling for business. Dozens of factories have closed in recent years.

SLUMS DEPRESSING

The problem is most visible in Glasgow's decaying inner city in such slum districts as the Gorbals and Barrowfield, which urban specialists say are among the most deprived areas of Western Europe.

Pathetic groups of alcoholics lie slumped around grimy derelict tenements taking the fast lane to oblivion—guzzling hair lacquer or cheap wine spiked with methylated spirits.

Rev. Gratien McEvoy, a Franciscan Roman Catholic priest active in helping Glasgow's derelicts, said he once counted more than 300 empty lacquer bottles littered around one Gorbals hangout under a railway bridge.

Willie Blaney, chairman of the Clydebank Council on Alcoholism, said women and children now drink as heavily as men and worsen the problem.

"When I started in this field, there was one woman to every 15 men with an alcohol problem," he said.

THEY ADAPT EASILY

Cockroaches exist in belowzero and tropical environments and develop immunities to poisons faster than researchers can find new defences.

Hockey safety best in Canada

"Canada leads the way in hockey face protection" according to Dr. Tom Pashby, a Toronto Ophthalmologist and Chairman of the Canadian Standards Association's (CSA) committee on eye protection standards. Dr. Pashby recently spoke at the first International Ice Hockey Doctor's Conference in Prague, Czechoslovakia where he told a group of hockey doctors, representing a dozen countries, that blindness to amateur hockey players has decreased by 75 percent because of increasing use of face protectors and stricter rules on high sticking. Most Canadian amateur hockey associations have made the wearing of face masks mandatory and CSA has tested and certified several models of eye and teeth protectors.

"In Sweden, where the wearing of face protectors is not compulsory, they have had twice as many eye injuries per capita as we did last year," explains Dr. Pashby. "Fifty percent of all their injuries were to the head and neck and most of these could have been prevented if face protectors had been used."

He feels that Sweden and Czechoslovakia will be the next countries to make the wearing of face protectors mandatory next season for players up to and including 16 years of age. Dr. Pashby, who first became interested in hockey eye protection 26 years ago after a patient, Herb Dickenson of the New York Rangers, suffered a blinding eye injury, says the next step in protection is to create standards covering goal tender's masks.

"We, in Canada, can definitely lead the way in developing standards for hockey equipment," says Dr. Pashby. "I hope our CSA committee will be able to complete a standard for full face protectors that will be adequate for goal tenders by this summer. Rather than writing a new standard, we will update the present one so that it is suitable for goal tenders and covers the whole face as well as the eyes and teeth."

Dr. Pashby would also like standardized hockey rules and recommends that the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's (CAHA) high sticking rule be adopted internationally. He attributes the CAHA "ban on high sticking" as a major factor in reducing eye injuries. A world-wide standard is also needed for the size of hockey stick blades so that they will not be able to penetrate the masks according to Dr. Pashby.

"We must be careful that the equipment, meant to protect the players, doesn't become hazardous. For instance, the Germans had a problem with a certain type of elbow pads that caused two facial fractures. Parents should also realize, that protective equipment wears out and must be replaced. Also, this equipment must fit properly in order to do the job it is supposed to do," explains Dr. Pashby.

Oliver B.C. camp best in years

The O'Brien twins - Eddie, Seattle University Athletic Director and John, the Seattle Kingdome assistant director headline the instructional staff for the 19th annual Okanagan Major League Baseball Camp.

Fred Shull, Edmonds; Bill Faller, Yakima Valley; Bill Johnson, Spokane Falls; Ray Washburn, Bellevue; and Doug Weeks, Big Bend are five highly successful community college coaches who will be on hand during the five weeks of youth camps.

The first 1978 camp will be July 16-22 with the final camp August 15-19. Early camps are geared to 9-14 age groups (divided by ability and at age 12) with later camps staffed for boys to 19 years of age.

Eddie O'Brien is a highly respected instructor who was a pitching coach with the former Seattle Pilots, a varsity coach at Seattle University and a former pitcher in the Pittsburgh Pirates organization. John, the other twin was an infielder with Pittsburgh, Milwaukee and the St. Louis Cardinals.

Bishop Bay big ones

Fishing Report by Don Pearson Custom Sports

The tide this morning at MK Bay Marina is high tide at 12:20 p.m. at 12.8 feet and low tide at 6:10 p.m. at 5.8 feet.

Douglas Channel fishing yesterday was very good with good fishing and good weather. Although not many large Spring came in, there were a good number of smaller fish.

I heard of three boats that limited out. Hot spots were Fish Creek, Jesse Falls and Coste Island area, and Bishop Bay area for the large ones.

Edmonds, Wash. 98020), former University of Washington and Seattle Pacific University Baseball mentor, have announced another top slate of some twenty-one instructors.

Tasu hosts third swim meet

A group of 28 swimmers gathered in Tasu weekend to compete in an invited swim meet. Wet athletes from Terrace, Kitimat, Prince Rupert and Tasu stroked their way to victory while some of their colleagues did the same in California - Tasu wasn't quite so glamorous, but just as exciting.

The trip started for six Terrace Bluebacks and team manager Pat Kenney boarded a Goose Trans- Provincial aircraft bound for Sandspit. With high winds at the original landing site of Tasu (from Sandspit) the plane landed in a small logging community named Sewell. From there the team was taken by tug boat to Sandspit.

The swimmers were well fed and taken care of by their billets, according to Pat, who herself had "a real good time."

Sunday morning the swimmers started races in the four lane 20 yard pool. This was only the third meet in which Tasu has hosted since the town was erected, according to Pat.

The Tasu Lions Club sponsored event spawned some new champions, including one named Tom Espersen of the Bluebacks who set a pool record with a 1.11 100 yard swim.

In the 8 and under girl's age group Annie Tauber of Prince Rupert took the aggregate. The 9 and 10 girls was taken by Tammy Grey, also of Prince Rupert.

The boy's 9 and 10 was won by Tony Broman of the Bluebacks.

In the 11 and 12 age group Sheila Langley of Prince Rupert and Calvin Kinakin of Tasu took the aggregate with Blueback Tammy Bishop taking the runner-up in the girls'.

The 13 and 14 girl's was won by Allison McManus of the Kitimat Marlins while Charles Saunders took the boys, for Tasu. Although he set a pool record Tom Espersen only placed as runner-up in this age group. There were no seniors at the meet.

Team standings put Rupert Amateur Swim club up front with 148 points. Second place went to Tasu with 118 points and third was Kitimat with 82. Fourth place fell to the Bluebacks of Terrace with 65 points.

The group returned Sunday but not without a tour of the local mines and townsite. Pat seemed to be thrilled by the 800 foot depth tour of the mines she was able to attend.

Tasu is a small town of 300 people, about half of them working, Pat explained.

Prince George is the host of a swim meet this weekend which will be the final meet of the season for most local clubs.

"World's most popular game" championship

BUENOS AIRES (Reuter) — The waiting is over and today the gladiators enter the arena to launch the year's most spectacular sporting event—the World Cup soccer finals.

For two years, more than 100 countries battled for the right to play in the 16-team finals, held every four years and the pinnacle of the world's most popular game.

The Argentine referee will blow his whistle in the River Plate stadium and 75,000 fans plus a world television audience estimated at more than one billion will follow the action as world champions West Germany play Poland.

Argentina has spent $700 million providing all the required facilities and has also survived a bloody guerrilla war which at one stage led to calls for the tournament to be transferred elsewhere.

SECURITY TIGHT Although the guerrilla threat has all but disappeared, Argentina's military rulers are taking no chances with security and the River Plate stadium in northeastern Buenos Aires will be the safest place in town.

Police will move into position eight hours before the kickoff and unauthorized traffic will be barred from the area surrounding the stadium. The two teams, which arrived Wednesday from their out-of-town training camps, have been given especially heavy guards.

The match will be preceded by a colorful opening ceremony, including a gymnastics display and speeches by Argentine President Lt.-Gen. Jorge Rafael Videla and Joao Havelange, Brazilian president of the International Football Federation.

The tournament, the 11th since the series began in 1930, is one of the most open ever staged and many experts fear that the defensive strait-jacket worn by most modern teams could lead to excessive physical contact and the risk of violence both on and off the field.

No European team has ever won the world cup in South America and the signs are that this tradition will not be broken.

BRAZIL FAVORED

Brazil, the only country to have won the title three times, are again among the favorites and could face their stiffest opposition from hosts Argentina, whose 27 million inhabitants will embark on an orgy of celebration if their team wins the cup for the first time.

Top European contenders are West Germany and the Netherlands.

Whatever the result of today's game, both teams should still qualify from Group Two where their rivals are Mexico and Tunisia.

The three other groups start first-round competition in the next two days. The top two teams in each group will qualify for the two second round pools, each of four teams, and the winners of these two groups will meet in the final on June 25.

Detroit retrieves first place

By THE CANADIAN PRESS Detroit Express regained first place Wednesday night in the American Conference Central Division of the North American Soccer League, thanks in large part to newly acquired star Trevor Francis.

Playing his second game for Detroit, the British player collected two assists and set up a penalty shot that led to another goal as the Express blanked Philadelphia Fury 3-0.

Francis had the winning goal and an assist in his Detroit debut last Sunday. In other games, San Diego Sockers shaded New England Tea Men 2-1, Dallas Tornado beat Colorado Caribou 2-1, Seattle Sounders topped California Surf 2-0, Rochester Lancers nipped San Jose Earthquakes 2-1 and Oakland Stompers edged Fort Lauderdale Strikers 2-1.

Steve David, last season's leading scorer in the NASL when he was a member of Los Angeles Aztecs, showed signs of returning to form Wednesday, collecting a goal and two assists for the Express.

Keith Furphy, son of Express coach Ken Furphy, opened the scoring for Detroit with his sixth goal of the season and his fifth game-winner.

DAVID TRIPPED After taking a pass from Francis, David was tripped, giving the Express a penalty kick that David Bradford converted into the night's second goal.

David, who scored the third goal late in the second half, showed no signs of discontent over the attention heaped on Francis.

"The guy deserves it, he is a great player," David said. "I want to make fame on my own."

The loss dropped Philadelphia to a 5-7 record, the worst in the Eastern Division of the American Conference. Detroit, 7-6 leads the Central Division with 60 points, seven more than Houston.

Ade Coker, playing his third game for San Diego, scored a pair of goals to lead the Sockers to victory over the Tea Men.

Coker, who came to San Diego in a recent trade with Minnesota Kicks, opened scoring with an unassisted goal at 26:20 following a flurry in front of the New England net. His other score came at 51:04 with assists from Pete Nover and Derek Smethurst.

ROTE STARS

Rote broke a 1-1 tie at 66:46, getting assists from Jeff Bourne and Jim Ryan, as Dallas posted its seventh victory against six losses. Dave Butler scored the game's only goals as the Sounders blanked the Surf.

Butler broke a scoreless tie at 40:50, scoring with an assist from Paul Crossley.

Rochester's Jim Polihian pulled off an unusual trick for a defender, figuring in both goals as the Lancers stopped the Earthquakes.

Polihian scored with 18:54 gone in the game off assists from Jozsef Horvath and Hugo Nicolini. Passes from San Jose's Ian Wood and John Rowlands allowed Paul Child to tie it 20 seconds before halftime.

Polihian got an assist on the winning goal, passing from the left across to Horvath, who dropped the ball off to Francisco Bolota about 10 yards in front of the Earthquakes goal.

Reds "pound" Braves while May pitches Expos 9-1 victory

By THE CANADIAN PRESS Managers Sparky Anderson of Cincinnati Reds and Bobby Cox of Atlanta Braves didn't see eye-to-eye. They watched the same thing, right-hander Tom Seaver, 5-4, winning his fourth consecutive game as the Reds pounded the Braves 10-4 in a National League baseball game Wednesday night on home runs by Pete Rose, George Foster and Mike Lum.

The managers didn't, however, agree on what they saw.

"He should have had a shutout," said Anderson. "We've been having our troubles catching the ball."

Cox said: "If Seaver is no more impressive than he was tonight, they (Cincinnati) may be in trouble. He was still good, but I don't think he was as good as he's been. He should win with that club. They are a great fielding club."

Seaver, who fanned eight and allowed nine hits in eight innings, was touched for four runs in the third when the Braves got four hits, including a two-run homer by Biff Pocoroba, and benefitted from a pair of Cincinnati errors.

In other National League games, Montreal Expos whipped Chicago Cubs 9-1, Pittsburgh Pirates edged Philadelphia Phillies 2-1, St. Louis Cardinals nipped New York Mets 5-4, Houston Astros blanked San Francisco Giants 1-0 and San Diego Padres downed Los Angeles Dodgers 3-1.

Expos 9 Cubs 1 Montreal outfielder Ellis Valentine vented his frustration by smashing a three-run homer, then smacking Cubs catcher Dave Rader before 18,647 at the Olympic stadium.

Valentine's homer, his sixth, came in the Expos four-run first inning. When he came to bat in the fifth, Cubs pitcher Dennis Lamp, 1-5, threw Valentine two balls, both low and inside.

Valentine, who contended the first Lamp pitch hit him, said after the count went 2-0, Rader "had a little, sly grin on his face, which I didn't appreciate at all."

"I told him if he (Lamp) comes in close again, you're going to get it."

The count went 3-and-1, and when Lamp delivered ball four, low and inside again, the six-foot-four Valentine took a swipe at the six-foot Rader, hitting him in the back of the head and knocking off his mask.

Pirates 2 Phils 1 Phil Garner scored the winning run when Phils pitcher Randy Lerch, 3-5, balked him home in the first inning in an odd game in which none of the runs were batted in.

Pittsburgh's first run scored on centre fielder Garry Maddox's throwing error, and the Phils scored in the first inning on two errors by third baseman Jim Fregosi.

Cards 5 Mets 4

St. Louis scored twice in the first inning when John Stearns mishandled a pitch by Mike Bruhart, 1-4, and Ken Reitz hit a run-scoring single. The Cards added a run in the third on a single by Keith Hernandez, and scored two more in the sixth on Mike Tyson's sacrifice and Lou Brock's RBI single.

Astros 1 Giants 0

Houston right-hander Mark Lemongello, 5-5, outduelled Vida Blue, 6-3, scattering seven hits for his first major league shutout. Jesus Alou drove in the game's only run with a sacrifice fly in the ninth.

Padres 3 Dodgers 1 Derrel Thomas singled home two runs in the fourth, and Bob Shirley, 3-5, hurled 7 1-3 strong innings before giving way to Rolfe Fingers, who collected his 11th save.

Phoenix trampled by homers in Pacific Coast League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In baseball, the team that gets more hits and commits fewer errors is likely to win, but that's not true for Phoenix Giants.

The Giants succumbed to a barrage of four home runs by the Portland Beavers to drop a 9-8 Pacific Coast League game Wednesday night.

In other PCL action, Tacoma Yankees got by Spokane Indians 6-5, Albuquerque Dukes dumped Tucson Toros 7-4 and Hawaii Islanders edged Salt Lake City Gulls 3-2. San Jose Missions had the night off, and Vancouver Canadians defeated their parent club, Oakland A's, 7-5 in an exhibition game.

Eight of Portland's runs were scored on homers—a three-run blast by Rob Ellis, two-run shots by Dan Briggs and Jeff Geach, and the game-deciding solo four-bagger by Bob Alletta in the eighth inning.

Phoenix had 15 hits in the game to 10 for Portland, and the Giants committed no errors to three for the Beavers.

Tommy Cruz knocked a solo home run in the fourth inning and drove in the winning tally as he grounded out in the seventh for Tacoma.

Brad Gylden's bases-loaded single in the eighth inning snapped a 4-4 tie, and

Offspring Canadians defeat A's 7-5

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mark Budaska, the hottest hitting Vancouver Canadian, drove in three runs with a pair of singles Wednesday as the Pacific Coast League club defeated its parent team, Oakland A's of the American League, 7-5 in an exhibition baseball game before 8,107 fans.

Budaska, a switch-hitting first baseman batting .320 in league play, sent Vancouver into a 3-1 lead with a two-run single in the second inning.

The A's bounced back to take a 4-3 lead in the top of the fifth, but Canadians tied in the bottom of the inning and went ahead 5-4 with a single run in the sixth. Canadians scored the eventual winning run in the eighth inning, when Milt Hamer scored from third base on a wild pitch by reliever Dave Heaverlo.

Vancouver made it 7-4 later in the inning when Keith Lieppman doubled home Jeff Cox. Oakland, which leads to AL Western Division, added its final run in the top of the ninth inning.

Phil Huffman went the distance for Vancouver, while Steve Renko, the loser, and Heaverlo combined for the A's. Each team had nine hits.

LPGA winner plays exhibition rather than tournament

TORONTO (CP) — Now that Nancy Lopez isn't in town, the scramble for the top prize can begin in earnest.

Lopez, the No. 1 money winner this year on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour with $86,448.25, is not playing in this week's stop—which begins today at St. George's Golf and Country Club.

Although the tournament has $100,000 in prize money—$15,000 to the winner—Lopez will not be on hand to shoot for her fourth consecutive LPGA victory. Lopez is honoring a commitment to play an exhibition match with Tom Watson.

With Lopez away the girls will now play.

One who has a good shot at the top prize is Penny Pulz, the No. 2 money-winner this year with $54,916.17.

Although Pulz, 25, a native of Australia who makes her home in California, has not won a tournament this year, she has been close many times. Her best finish was second place in the Winners Circle. In her last two tournaments she has finished fourth both times.

St. George's, a hilly 6,263-yard par 73 could be the site of her first tournament victory of 1978.

HER BEST START

"Sure, it's the best start of my career," Pulz said Wednesday. "I've just been a more consistent player than in the past."

"I'm driving a lot better and am hitting more greens and consequently am getting a better opportunity to make birdie."

Also to be considered this week are JoAnne Carner, the winner in 1975 when the tournament was last played at St. George's. Carner won in a playoff against Carol Mann.

Judy Rankin and Hollis Stacy, the defending ladies U.S. Open champ are also in the hunt.

Also to be considered is Sandra Post, a native of Oakville, Ont., who has played the course many times.

Post is the third leading money winner on the 1978 tour.

ABILITY SHINES THROUGH

SCARBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Despite limitations imposed by muscular dystrophy, 16-year-old Barry Nishizaki is a Grade 13 honors student who has ranked in the first five of 400 students for four years. He received five top scholastic awards upon receiving his Grade 12 diploma last year and has set his sights on a bachelor of science degree.

APPLESOLVE PROBLEM

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Parents Consultative Committee at Vancouver's Lord Nelson school had an apple machine installed in the school. It sells students an apple for 20 cents. Sales are up to nearly 400 apples a week, and the problem of junk-food litter has dropped.

BREWERS PERSIST

SPECIAL ATTRACTION: The B.C.G.A. is sponsoring FREE Golf Clinics for all competitors, parents, club members and interested golfers. These clinics will take place at the Skeena Valley Golf club at 8p.m. on Fri. June 2 and 3p.m. Sun. June 4.

In addition our guest professional from Vancouver will be putting on an exhibition with the former Skeena Valley club Captain and club champion. If you want to see some good golf come and join the gallery at 9a.m. Saturday, June 3rd.

Later that evening you are invited to a film session in the club house at 8p.m. to meet the pro: Who is he? His name is NORM JARVIS. Norm played his amateur golf in Saskatchewan and after turning pro spent two years as head professional at the Moose Jaw Country Club. In 1975 he won the Saskatchewan P.G.A. championship and spent that winter playing the Florida P.G.A. winter tour. In 1977 he became the assistant professional at the Fraserview Golf course in Vancouver and finished fourth in the B.C. Open with scores of 72-66-69. Last year he played the Arizona P.G.A. winter tour.

Presently Norm is em-played as a teaching professional at Fraserview and plans on competing in the Canadian summer tour this year.

Next week he leaves for Ontario where he will be playing in the Ontario Open and the Canadian Open at Glen Abbey.

Impressive credentials. Come and watch golf played the way it should be played. This is your chance and its all FREE compliments of the B.C.G.A. Spectators are more than welcome.

It's not how you play — it's how you lose

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The real story behind the 62nd annual Indianapolis 500 wasn't so much how Al Unser won it for a third time, as it was how Tom Sneva, Gordon Johncock, Steve Krisloff, Danny Ongais and everybody else lost it.

Because of the unique rules for the Indianapolis race, the winner is usually the guy who makes the fewest mistakes and has the least number of problems. Unser had a smooth, uneventful race. "It was the easiest of my 13 races here," he said.

Only when he scraped a tire and knocked his steering slightly out of whack on his final pit stop did he have any trouble. But by then his lead was so great that Sneva could not overtake him.

Sneva had handling problems for 40 laps in the middle of the race. "By the time we figured out what was wrong and fixed it, it was too late," he said.

Charging back from more than 40 seconds behind, Sneva closed to within 8.19 seconds in the second closest finish in Indy history.

Johncock, who came in third, was given a one-lap penalty for rolling over an air hose to a pneumatic tire wrench on his way into the pit area.

Krisloff was leading on the 31st circuit when he and Larry Dickson ran afoul of the pacer, a light system used to keep the field moving around the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, albeit at a caution-period pace, in times of trouble.

"Krisloff improved his position by two pacer segments, as did Dickson," said Dick Jordon, a United States Auto Club official. "They were both in the same general location on the track at the time."

Ongais was a victim of apparent mechanical failure, a broken turbocharger, with less than 100 miles to go. It took him out of the fight for the lead, where he had been since the green flag had dropped, and essentially gave the race to Unser.

How did other drivers lose it? Basically, most found out they and/or their cars just weren't fast enough.

As for some of the others: Mario Andretti-Ignition system went sour after he charged from 33rd to ninth.

A. J. Foyt-Problem after problem. Ran out of fuel. Engine died twice in pits. Was never in the hunt.

Bobby Unser-Got the most that could be expected from his new Eagle that wasn't even supposed to get on the track for practice this month.

Johnny Rutherford-Strong early, but lost time making pit stops under green while others were luckier waiting until yellow flag was out. Penalized a lap for unspecified pit infraction. Motor broke.

Janet Guthrie-Broke her right wrist when she fell playing in a tennis tournament Saturday. Drove whole race with left hand, strengthening her claim she could whip most of the men in the field single-handed.

Zokol takes five stroke qualifier

WHITE ROCK, B.C. (CP) — Dick Zokol of Vancouver fired a two-under-par 70 Wednesday to take a five-stroke lead in the 36-hole western section qualifying round for a berth in the Canadian Open golf tournament.

Zokol is a sophomore at Brigham Young University. Norm Gray of Calgary is the only other golfer attempting to qualify for the Open, June 22-25 at Glen Abbey course near Toronto.

Female volleyball team takes win

PEKING (CP) — Canada's national women's volleyball team defeated a Peking junior side three sets to two today, the visitors' first win in more than two weeks and only their second on their tour of China.

"The team we played tonight was awfully young and their inexperience hurt them, especially toward the end," said Canadian captain Audrey Vandervelden of Burnaby, B.C. "It was a bit of a surprise that they stayed with us as long as they did when you think they are only high school girls. But China has come a long way in volleyball and has so many good teams that you should always worry about any of them."

The Canadian team leaves China on Friday for South Korea where it will play several matches.

Timbermen rallie for overtime win

VANCOUVER (CP) — Kevin Alexander scored his third goal of the night to lift Nanaimo Timbermen to a 17-16 overtime win over Vancouver Burrards in a Western Lacrosse Association game Wednesday night.

Nanaimo trailed 14-9 in the third period before rallying to tie the score to force overtime.

Alexander and Ken King each scored three goals for Nanaimo. Bob Cool, Jim Lynch and Rookie Tej Labh added doubles. Pete Rushton, Ron Swayak, Frank Alexander, Ian Kennedy and Ron Sage added singles.

Pat Ryan and Taki Vohalis each scored three goals for Vancouver, which outshot Nanaimo 59-54. Dave Tasker, John Krgovoch, Ron Pinder and Brian Davidson added two goals each. Doug Hayes and Joe Morello scored singles.

Anthropological theory to be proven by dug-out canoe

VANCOUVER (CP) — Gordie Tocher's 12.6-metre dugout canoe Orenda has weathered its first storm and has headed out into the Pacific Ocean on a 3,600-kilometre voyage to Hawaii. Tocher and his crew of two left here May 14 and spent the following two weeks on a cruise to Seattle and other ports on the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

The other crew members are navigator Gerhard Kiesel, 56, and Karin Lind, 34, an anthropology teacher.

Tocher's brother, Bob, said Wednesday the Orenda left Tuesday morning from Neah Bay on the Olympic Peninsula.

Tocher, who provided land-based support for the dugout canoe and crew while in Washington State waters, said his brother told him the crew got seasick during their first storm but the three-ton canoe rode it out well.

The voyage to Oahu is expected to take five weeks.

Tocher wants to prove an anthropological theory that north coast British Columbia Indians sailed their war canoes to Hawaii approximately 1,400 years ago.

ELDER KEN EYRE AND ELDER TODD JOHNSON

THE CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST OF LATTER-DAY SAINTS

Terrace is hardly darkest Africa but it does have it's missionaries. Elder Ken Eyre and Elder Todd Johnson are missionaries called by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) to serve in British Columbia and are currently labouring in Terrace.

Elder Johnson has been in Terrace now for about five months and really enjoys the people and the area. Elder Eyre arrived in Terrace just recently. He has served in many areas throughout British Columbia and says that "I think the northern part of B.C. here, is some of the most beautiful country I have seen".

Each are anxious to share a special family program that will bring family members closer together. It's called family home evening and takes just thirty minutes to present. The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints feels that in order to make the world a better place, families must be closer and stronger because it's in the home that correct principles can be taught and applied.

Anyone interested in having a demonstration of the family home evening program in their home or want to know more about the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints can reach the Elders at 635-5864 or 635-6820.

New Provincial Park program

The Provincial Parks Branch announced in Smithers today the appointment of a Regional Interpretation and Information Officer.

Tom Parkin, a naturalist with experience in the National and Provincial Parks of Western Canada, will be initiating a number of new programs.

"In keeping with the Branch's desire to create public awareness and appreciation of our parks, the Naturalist Program will be expanded to include the Smithers area this summer," Parkin reported.

"The regular program will be continuing at Lakelse Lake Park near Terrace, and there will be a new Naturalist at Macleure Lake Park near Smithers. Both these people will be conducting interesting programs ranging from canoeing instruction to edible plant walks."

The branch wishes to encourage greater public involvement with local parks and Parkin plans to be extensively involved in northwestern communities throughout the year.

Six Interpretation and Information Officers will soon be working in the Park Regions throughout the province. They will be communicating the outdoors to the public in many ways - be it the world of nature, local history, outdoor recreation skills or simply information about the next campground.

Parkin believes that there is a tremendous potential for school environmental education programs and looks forward to fostering an understanding of these vital preserves and recreation areas.

People wishing information or assistance are requested to write of phone Mr. Tom Parkin, Interpretation and Information Officer, Provincial Parks Branch, Box 970, Smithers, B.C. V0J 2 N0 (Phone: 847-4411, local 258).

Hazelton Secondary School will continue showing student art work in the lobby of the R.E.M. Lee Theatre until the end of June.

Beating victim helpless

VANCOUVER (CP) — When Larry Sheffield wakes up in the morning, nurses have to dress and feed him.

Then he is wheeled to a lounge area where he spends most of his day gazing about vacantly. The routine is broken only by meals, medication and visits from friends and relatives.

"I don't believe he knows who he is," says Virginia Austin, his sister. "He does react to me—I can make him laugh—but he's completely senseless."

Sheffield, 43, was the victim of a Jan. 28 beating in an East End rooming house.

Francois Quesnel, 25, was sentenced to 4 1/2 years for wounding. His brother, Vincent, 20, received four years for what the judge said was an unmerciful beating. The brothers are from St. Albert, Ont., 40 kilometres southeast of Ottawa.

ASKED FOR FIGHT Vincent said Sheffield had called him a frog and invited him to fight.

by Michael Collins Your public library is continually receiving new books. Some of the latest includes:

In Search of Your Roots: A guide for Canadians seeking their ancestors, by Angus Baxter. Here is the most complete book ever published for Canadians who wish to search for their origins. No matter what your ethnic descent this volume will help you track down records from civil registration, churches, wills, genealogical societies, archives and libraries. Baxter notes that the odds against finding blue blood in your veins are very great but it's always fun to find out who your ancestors were.

In Search of Ancient Astronomies, edited by Dr. E. C. Krupp. This book will unlock for you many of the mysteries that surround such monuments as Stonehenge, the pyramids and other marvels of the remote past. Our ancestors were far more sophisticated than many had realized and this book points out the numerous clues we have to suppose that they possessed a good deal of astronomical knowledge.

Eerdman's Handbook to the story of Christianity. No matter what your religious persuasion this book will provide you with a fascinating account of the 2000 year history of one of the world's greatest cultural achievements. Many colour art reproductions and photographs highlight the volume.

Remote Control: the Manipulation of American Life, by Frank Mankiewicz and Joel Szwedlow. Here is a startling book which will show you how opinions are shaped by just a few large broadcasting corporations. Everything you eat and wear, what you believe to be true or false, what you like and dislike are all greatly affected by television. Here is a book that will help you to understand how.

Mao's China: A History of the People's Republic, by Maurice Meisner. The death of Mao Tse Tung marked the end of an era in the history of China. This book spans Mao's life from working in a library, through the arduous "Long March" to find triumph of his peasant's revolution and establishment of a communist regime. The concentration is on the last twenty five years and for anyone wanting to get a historical perspective or today's China, this book is indispensable.

Murder Ink: The Mystery Reader's Companion. All you mystery readers must take a look at this one. Full of anecdotes, quizzes, strange facts (and fancies), this volume even includes a section on fit punishments for those who reveal the endings of mysteries...

Don't blame the world, but better it. How? Just by bettering yourself at every moment.

Adoption should be before birth

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Babies who are going to be put up for adoption should be adopted by their new parents before birth, a British child specialist said Wednesday.

Dr. Hugh Jolly told a conference at the Children's Psychiatric Research Institute that when a pregnant woman indicates she intends to put her infant up for adoption, the adoption agency should contact the adopting couple and say: "I've got good news for you, you're pregnant."

"They (the adopting couple) are then faced with a pregnancy lasting perhaps six months," he said.

Dr. Jolly said the adoptive mother is then placed in the position of going through the risks of a kind of miscarriage, just as if she was the real mother, since she could still lose the baby if the natural mother decided to keep it.

He said there has been too much emphasis on making sure the baby is perfect before allowing it to be adopted.

PARENTS DO NOT ASK That does not happen in real life, he said, adding that parents do not ask to have a child inspected for defects before they decide to rear it.

Dr. Jolly said all couples seeking a baby through adoption should be able to ask whether it is to be black or white. However, the tendency to match the background of the baby with the background of the adopting parents is nonsense.

"Mothering isn't actually the blood relationship," he said. "Mother is the one person capable of mothering that child and mothering is the ability to give yourself 24 hours a day to your child and not demand a reward."

Dr. Jolly said mothers who want to stay home with their babies for the first six months but are forced to work for financial reasons should be subsidized by the state, which he said would be better off in the long run.

A Living Room that Keeps Office Hours as Well

A woman's place may well be in the home — but only if the home offers her a place where she can effectively carry on her diverse activities. So it is, with so many women starting their own businesses or just working at home, that an office-in-the-home has become a very viable concept.

With currently inflated prices, the prospect of adding another room is often out of the question, and the alternative — redesigning an already existing room to make it serve two functions — is beginning to make more sense to more families. Like the husband's study that can double as a guest room, designer Sharon Meadows feels a living room can do double duty as a lady's office. It's easy, economical — and egalitarian! (After all, not every household executive wants to work at the kitchen table.)

In her decorating scheme, Ms. Meadows used Finishing Touch's spacious curved-leg desk as a focal point. From the Charter collection, its rich look of olive ash burl with leathery inserts and intricately fashioned hardware makes it a conversation piece in the living room, as well as a joy to work at. Offsetting the desk's horizontal lines, the designer chose the tall, slender form of Ridgeway's "Chateau" floor clock to fill a corner between a wall of curios and a panel of ceiling-to-floor draperies. The grandmother clock is the best example of a piece that plays a dual role: as a beautiful and decorative addition to a living room and a functional timepiece, keeping a lady apprised of her valuable hours.

Seating space is essential to both the room's social and business purposes. Ms. Meadows chose two Kay-Lyn loveseats to face each other across a chrome-and-glass coffee table. It's a comfortable corner, equally right for entertaining guests with evening cordials or conducting casual corporate meetings. And Kay-Lyn's velvet-cushioned desk chair lets madame feel quite at home while at the "office."

Finally, don't neglect the personal touches. Nothing is worse than an office — at home or away — that's too businesslike or a living room with no sign of its family. So, with a fresh coat of paint, a few personal effects and just the right furniture, anyone can expand her living space without exhausting her budget and, when it's all done, have an elegant living room that's an equally elegant office — both just right for a busy Ms.

The secret to efficient housekeeping is in getting maximum usage out of everything around the house — and that goes for many objects you'd normally pitch out, like worn-down-to-a-sliver soap or worn-out socks.

A thin piece of soap can be an aid when sewing, for example. You can use it to mark hemlines and darts, without worrying about tell-tale markings — washing the fabric removes the soap without a trace. And a great way to use old socks is to slip shoes inside them when traveling.

Acoustical tile for a new family room will help control noise.

This beautiful executive quality home is located on a secluded 2 acre parcel of land, with great potential for excellent rockeries and flower gardens due to its unusual land features.

The house itself is large and roomy. Complete with 5 bedrooms all with large closets and floor space. 2 full and 1/2 bathrooms. Livingroom and diningroom feature hardwood floors and bay windows. Brick fireplace in family room. Large bright kitchen with eating area.

Attached double garage and many storage areas complete this quality home.

For appointment to view call Bonnie or Bud at 635-6131.

to consult or not to consult

When the housewife makes up her mind to re-decorate, she is often faced with the big question: should I get a professional decorator to do the job or should I do it all myself? The answer depends on the kind of person she is. Many women are unsure about color schemes and feel they lack imagination. Such a housewife would definitely profit from consulting an interior decorator. Other women have very definite ideas about how they want their home to look and don't want someone else's tastes "imposed" on them. Most of us, however, are somewhere in between... with a pretty good notion of the kind of atmosphere we want in our homes and an appreciation of the expert advice that a decorator can offer.

Actually, a good decorator never imposes his or her taste on the homeowner — rather, the decorator's job is to translate your tastes and life style into an attractive, comfortable, and practical setting for you and your family.

Many women who would love to use the services of a decorator, hesitate to do so because of the cost. If you're on a budget, why not check into the decorating services offered by the large stores in your town? Many of these stores have a trained consultant on staff to advise you on decorating problems at no charge.

If your budget allows for an independent decorator, ask to see samples or illustrations of his or her work, before making a commitment. When you find a decorator whose work pleases you, be frank regarding your finances, your needs, and your wishes.

Happy decorating!

MICROWAVE MENUS

Spinach-Artichoke Casserole Is Company Fare

Microwave cooking can bring out the beauty of vegetables. Natural colors are not only retained but enhanced. And because little water is used, there is virtually no loss of vitamins and nutrients. This elegant vegetable dish, Spinach Deluxe, is made with frozen spinach and canned marinated artichoke hearts. Blue Bonnet Margarine adds rich buttery flavor to this company recipe.

When cooking solid-pack frozen vegetables like spinach in a dish, be sure to place the icier side up. In this way the even distribution of heat is guaranteed as the water from the melting ice passes through the vegetables. For other types of frozen vegetables other techniques are used. If cooking frozen vegetables in a pouch, be sure to prick the pouch so steam can escape and it doesn't explode. If frozen vegetables are taken from a loose pack, add two tablespoons of hot water and stir halfway through the cooking period.

Spinach Deluxe is certainly a company fare and makes a delicious menu when served with Rock-Cornish hens and wild rice stuffing.

COMPANY FARE
Roast Rock-Cornish Hens
Wild Rice Stuffing
Spinach Deluxe
Hot Rolls
Peach Melba
Coffee

SPINACH DELUXE
1 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon Italian salad dressing mix
2 packages (10 oz. each) frozen chopped spinach
1 can (6 oz.) marinated artichoke hearts, drained
4 tablespoons Blue Bonnet Margarine, melted
Tomato wedges

For Microwave Oven Preparation: High Power Level
Combine sour cream and salad dressing mix. Set aside. Place spinach in 1-quart casserole; cover and cook 8 minutes until thawed. Drain well. Return spinach to casserole; add artichokes and Blue Bonnet Margarine. Stir until well blended. Cover and cook 2 minutes. Remove from oven, stir, and let stand, uncovered, 1 minute. Stir again. Mix in sour cream mixture until well blended. Top with tomato wedges. Makes 8 servings.

The Secret Life Of The Forest

ALL THE LIVING THINGS

Trees alone do not make a forest. It is a complex community of many living things that help each other thrive.

Growth and decay, growth and decay. The eternal cycle of life everywhere is most intimately revealed in the forest. Last year's leaves, decomposing at the very feet of the trees that bore them, help the soil grow richer to nourish next year's leaves. But leaves do not decay without assistance. Bacteria and fungi do that work, while finding sustenance in the leaves they destroy.

Here are portraits of six of the many living things in the eternal cycle of forest life as derived from material prepared by the St. Regis Paper Company which—together with the other members of the forest products industry—is vitally concerned with maintaining the beauty and usefulness of America's forests.

LEAVES give life to the forest. On trees and on vines, on shrubs and on bushes, green leaves make food for their own growth and sustenance. And in so doing they ultimately provide food for all the animals in the world.

SQUIRRELS not only live in the trees, but feed upon their seeds. This is small loss to the trees, and being dropped or buried by squirrels and other animals is an important way for new seeds to get into the ground.

INSECTS contribute to the life of the forest in their own way even though many are harmful. Aside from being food for birds and toads, insects of the forest floor contribute to the process of decay which renews and fertilizes the soil.

DECAY BACTERIA keeps dead matter from piling up. It releases back into the soil minerals that were dissolved in water that passed through the roots up to the leaves. Decay is the renewal of life.

EARTHWORMS are just one of hundreds of kinds of animals that burrow through the earth in a ceaseless search for food. They create a maze of passages that allow air and water to pass freely through the soil.

BIRDS, too, live in the leafy crowns of trees. They contribute to the life of the forest by feeding voraciously upon insects which could, if allowed to multiply unchecked, destroy the forest.

The Earl of Sandwich, inventor of the sandwich in 1744, said that sandwiches should be eaten with "a civilized swallow and not a barbarous bolt."

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR SATURDAY, JUNE 3, 1978

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Better-than-average influences, but there's still plenty of work to be done in various areas — to smooth out kinks, coordinate forces in better fashion.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Employ the techniques used successfully in prior efforts. But do not hesitate to update plans and vitalize your approach. Tact in personal affairs!

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Some complexities indicated. In all situations, be sure you have the facts before making decisions. Travel and outdoor interests favored.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Avoid the illogical and close your eyes to the dubious schemes of others — no matter how attractively they may be presented. Let your head rule your heart.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Influences somewhat restrictive. Neither speak nor act in haste lest you have cause for regret. Maintain high principles, but avoid dissension, antagonism.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

You should encounter few demaying obstacles now, but be on guard against "little" errors, miscalculations.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Some confusion in day's early hours can be cleared up if you just roll with the punches. Trying to crush your way through will only worsen matters.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Stars now promise benefits from past efforts as well as continuing achievement in some hitherto stubborn area. You can disarm others by a frank approach to issues.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

You now have an above-average chance to get a footing in an area long sought, a project long desired. But don't rush in without preparation. Discuss angles with experts.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Sudden, unexpected action, abrupt speech or unconventional approach could get you into difficulties and disturb the smooth sailing you could otherwise have. Be alert, discreet.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Especially favored now: travel, outdoor pursuits, children's activities. Combine a sense of humor with maximum effort to make this a memorable day.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

A day of mixed influences. Some uncertainties may prove irksome, but don't fight shadows. Clear thinking needed.

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with a fine mind; can truly be called brilliant in your keen interpretation and analysis of almost any situation. You have a gift for words and could excel in any career where this is an asset — writing, lecturing, teaching, the theater, the law and politics. This gift extends to the linguistic and you learn foreign languages with unbelievable ease. You are extremely adaptable; in fact, it has been said of you that you could be dropped into any country of the world and feel at home. Try to conquer a tendency to scatter energies, however, or you may not realize your truly glorious potentialities. Birthdate of: Jefferson Davis, Pres. Amer. Confederate States (Civil War); King George V, of England; Maurice Evans, dramatic actor.

Frances Drake

FOR SUNDAY, JUNE 4, 1978

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

You may wish you had not made certain plans for the day but, even if it takes special effort, follow them up. You'll be happier in the long run.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

You should find hobbies and creative endeavors absorbing and rewarding — and, through them, you could also meet new people who prove highly stimulating.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

No matter what changes are made in your routine, even in your environment, you can make quick adjustments, should get along well and even make notable improvements.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Mixed influences. Day calls for your stamina, stick-to-itiveness, good will and ability to help yourself and others out of undesirable situations.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Stellar aspects indicate a day of successful moves and plans, but all will require know-how, diligence and painstaking care. Don't act blindly.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Your intuition and self-reliance stimulated now. And both will be needed if you are to solve some possible "tricky" situations. Don't become anxious, however.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Your intuition and unusually good judgment will be a boon in the tight spots now. Give special care to family obligations.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You may have to make some concessions in a family matter, but the end results will be very worthwhile. Expect some good news in the p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) False statements COULD mislead but, under day's capital influences, you should be able to discriminate well. Just be alert.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

A day for some reevaluation. Dress up an old idea, give an inert interest new life, investigate new avenues to progress. Projects close to your heart can be furthered notably with the right push.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Some situations await your incisiveness and knack for managing people. You may have to do some persuading, but you are good at that.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

You may find it difficult to get things done in the way you prefer. Also, you may run into unexpected snags. Take all in stride and avoid argument. Things will right themselves.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely intelligent individual, highly imaginative and original in your ideas and methods. Your curiosity is boundless, thus you are unceasing in your quest for knowledge. This curiosity, incidentally, makes you a "natural" in the fields of journalism, science and exploration. However, your unusual versatility and readiness of comprehension fit you for many other vocations, and you could succeed admirably as an editor, musician, research worker, actor or novelist. You love travel but, unlike most born under Gemini, you have great stability, not scattering energies but content, when necessary, to "stay put" and concentrate on immediate objectives. Thus you often succeed more quickly in reaching your goals. Birthdate of: King George III, of England; Rosalind Russell, stage and film star.

DEAR ABBY: When my son was living at home he was so fussy about his shirts that if there was a little wrinkle in the collar, he'd throw the shirt back in the hamper for me to do over.

Well, he's married now, and you should see what he's putting up with. His wife never washes anything unless everything is dirty and they need something clean. I've seen her wash one shirt out in the kitchen sink, and then press it on the kitchen table, right over eggshells and

FOR MONDAY, JUNE 5, 1978

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Superiors should be receptive to your ideas, now. Advance your best ones — but tactfully, of course. And DO avoid the offbeat.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Unexpected interruptions may slow you down a bit but, if you coordinate as you should, you will find the means to straighten everything out satisfactorily.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Let your instincts guide you now since your chances of attaining goals are excellent. Imagination and a little daring could pay off handsomely.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Good lunar influences. Especially favored: real estate deals, home improvements, family concerns and outdoor interests.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Some things may bother you more than usual. Don't fret. Rather, check and look more closely into pertinent matters — to find causes and means for coping.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Stellar influences fairly generous. Study new situations carefully, and your native intelligence will help you make the most of each.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Cut loose from undesirable situations. Try again — from scratch, if need be. Retracting can be a revivifying process in certain areas.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

What pleases one may not please another. You may have to juggle a bit to avoid contention and hassling. Some new offers worthy of note, however. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) Poise needed. Know what is expected of you and strive in your finest manner. An extraordinary note of proficiency at a telling moment could increase your prestige.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Proceed with vigor now and get projects headed in the right direction. Consult with those who can give you a boost.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

This day's accent is on career achievement, improved relations with those in positions of authority. A great day for making room for yourself at the top.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Consider new methods and techniques, but don't reach beyond your capacities — a tendency now. Utilize advantages wisely; keep working toward your highest goals.

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely imaginative and, in all your undertakings, combine the artistic with the practical. Your interests in life are almost limitless, but it is in your absorption with people that you find your greatest stimulation. Try to cultivate this trait since you are also inclined to be too introspective at times and outside contacts "take you out of yourself." Your versatility is outstanding and you could run a business or work project shrewdly while simultaneously pursuing an avocation such as writing, drawing or music. You are ready for travel on short notice and will labor tirelessly if the project in which you are engaged interests you. If not interested, you tend to scatter energies with resultant tensions and anxieties. There is no set boundary for the Gemini. He broadens his horizons every day of his life. Birthdate of: Adam Smith, economist.

Successful men have happy marriages

NEW YORK (AP) — Ninety-five per cent of the chief executives of 100 major corporations in the United States still are married to their first wives, a survey by Town and Country magazine shows.

By contrast, the magazine said, 62 per cent of men in the general population still are married to their original partners.

The magazine launched its survey to test a Harvard University study which showed that company presidents have the happiest marriages.

At Harvard, 268 of the most promising undergraduates from the classes of 1942, 1943 and 1944 were selected and their progress followed in a canvass known as the Grant study.

Dr. George Vaillant, a psychiatrist who teaches at Harvard, became director of the study in 1967. He chose 95 men at random from the original group, interviewed them and found that the 19 company presidents among them had the most enduring marriages. The results of his study were published in a recent book.

But the results of the Town and Country survey surprised Vaillant, who said: "I would have thought the cost of success in such huge corporations might have gotten in the way of their marriages."

NOT ALWAYS STRUGGLE He noted, however, that someone who is a corporate executive is not always someone who has clawed his way to the top.

"Sometimes you're chosen just because you're good," he said.

Mrs. Kanter's research shows that wives significantly affect their husbands' work performance and chances for advancement.
